Important Information

Beware of investment scams involving cryptocurrency:

An investment scam is when a fraudster offers an individual the opportunity to invest, often using cryptocurrency, and promises a high rate of return in a short amount of time. These offers can be solicited through online ads where the victim is redirected to a website, but may also be unsolicited; in either case, there is time pressure to ensure the individual commits before they have time to complete their research on the investment opportunity.

Red Flags to look out for:

- a) Be mindful of individuals or services promising high (or quick) returns and unrealistic investment opportunities. If an opportunity sounds too good to be true it's a scam.
- b) If the individual contacts you in an unsolicited manner for an investment opportunity, either by phone, online, or via social media, it is likely not legitimate.
- c) Investment scams are often tied to romance scams; if you are dating online and a romantic interest suddenly turns into an investment opportunity, you are dealing with a fraudster.
- d) Fraudsters will often showcase testimonials from "satisfied customers" to increase their credibility - do not let these hinder your decision making.
- e) Watch for grammatical errors in communications with the buyer. It may
